The world still has a considerable supply of coal. Germany is credited with 280,000,000 tons, sufficient to last 2,000 years at the present rate of consumption; Great Britain and Ireland claim 193,000,000 tons, with an annual consumption about double that of Germany; Belgium has 28,000, 000,000 tons; France, 19,000,000,000; Austria, 17,000,000,000; and Russia 40,000,000. North America is believed to have 681,000,000,000 tons, more than the total of the other countries named. It is the tremendous increase in the use of coal that justifies alarm, for, while the supply of the United States would last 4,000 years at the rate of consumption in 1905, it will be exhausted within a century if the rate of increase of the last 30 years continues. No estimates of the coal of other parts of the world can be made, but Asia is known to have an enormous store.

Probably no substance is adapted to a greater variety of uses than rubber, but its applications are restricted by the limited supply and high cost. Among the purposes for which it has great advantages but is not likely to be extensively employed is that of paving roadways. A rubber pavement laid at a London railway station in 1881 was in 1902, worn down to five-eighths of an inch in the thinnest place. Notwithstanding the scarcity of the material, the cost was less than three times as great as that of wood, and its life has been more than twenty years instead of the four years which the wood or asphalt would have endured.

The unique floating ice barrier pushed out from the mysterious Antarctic land was found by Capt.
Scott's expedition to extend 500 miles westward from the volcanoes Erebus and Terror, and more than 400 miles toward the Pole, reaching beyond 82 degrees 17 minutes south lat. The front rises 10 to 280 feet above the water.

Even the best eggs may cause digestive disturbance through the idiosyn-crasy of certain individuals, but Le Coq, a French physiologist reports that some eggs develop a real poison, which he names ootoxine. Its presence is usually marked by a peculiar putrid odor, which in the white may be so slight as to escape notice. The toxine may be present in fresh eggs, but much more often occurs in those that are stale, and mixing long-broken eggs with cream—as is done so frequently by bakers—is especially liable to produce the septic alteration. Feeding hens with putrid or diseased meat is a fruitful source of the infection of the white of eggs.
This investigator would condemn all diseased and preserved eggs, and as there is no way of distinguishing safe fresh eggs, he would insist that all eggs to be eaten should be well boiled or sterilized by other thorough cooking, and particularly that raw eggs should not be used with cream in pastry.

The common sunflower, a native of Peru and Mexico, is gaining favor in parts of Europe as a febrifuge. In Russia, where the plant is extensively cultivated for its edible seeds and its oil, fever patients sleep upon beds of sunflower leaves and a Russian physician, experimenting upon 100 children between one month and twelve years of age, has found that alcoholic extracts of the leaves and flowers cure fever as speedily as quinine. In Spain and France also the sunflower has proven as satisfactory as quinine in fevers.

Alzen, the new alloy of two parts of aluminum and one of zinc, makes very perfect and durable casts of even the most delicate ornaments, and proves to be adapted to many purposes. It takes a beautiful polish.
Compared with cast iron, the alloy is equally strong, much more elastic, and is greatly superior in its resistance to rust. The last named quality especially entitles this material to consideration.

Ordinary unrefined helium, obtained by calcining cleveite, has been made quite pure by two French chemists by filtering through quartz beated to 1100 C. Helium diffuses readily through the hot quartz, which is impermeable to all other gases except hydrogen and possibly carbon monoxide, and these are converted into water vapor and carbonic acid

B. I. Hoxie, formerly in charge of the Keystone mine at Amador, and at one time connected with the West Tonopah, has been appointed superintendent of the MacNamara.
Mr Hoxie is a practical mining man of much experience.—Tonopah Sun.

The supervisors had quite a lively session this week, and it took three days to complete all the business of the board. Tuesday all the members accompanied by the district attorney went to Camanche, where they met the members of the Amador board, to discuss the joint bridge that must be erected to take the place of the one carried away by the flood.—Prospect.

In the matter of the joint bridge across the Mokelumne river at Camanche, it was decided at the conference with the Amador supervisors to accept the plans of C. W. Swain and to advertise for bids.—Prospect.

Geo. Avery returned from a trip into Amador county last week. He has moved his family back to their

The many girl friends of Miss Lottie Le Moine were entertained at "Hearts" Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Le Moine's sister, Mrs K. W. Beckman. At the conclusion of the game Miss Le Moine announced her engagement to Edwin E. Steacy, a Lodi boy. Of late Mr Steacy has been traveling for the W. P. Fuller Company of Stockton. Dainty refreshments followed the card playing.
Miss Le Moine is the daughter of Mr and Mrs G. W. Le Moine of this city.
She is a handsome girl of pleasing personality and well liked by all who know her. Her father recently owned the Lodi hotel, but is now engaged in experimenting with vineyards. Miss Le Moine is a graduate of the Lodi high school and is popular among the local set. Mr Steacy has been reared in Lodi, having received his education both in Salem and the high school. He is the son of W. E. Steacy, a carriage maker of this city, and is well-known throughout Lodi and Stockton, where he has ever so many friends who can but extend congratulations. Society in Lodi will welcome the marriage, which is to occur on April 10th at the bride's home on South School street.—Stock-

LANCHA PLANA.
The mail from Lancha Plana to Wallace is carried to and from Lancha Plana on foot, about a mile to the old Westmoreland bridge, where it is met by a team and wagon. The driver is Jesse Lyons of Wallace. The river will not be fordable before July 1st.

A great amount of damage has been done along the Mokelumne river in this district during the recent high water. Fences have been swept away, orchards, vineyards and gardens injured, and the roads in many places have been rendered almost impossible. The amount of drift wood and pine and cedar logs collected at different points is enormous. Large quantities of valuable timber have been secured by different parties along the river.

A petition signed by nearly every resident has been prepared and will be presented to the board of supervisors of Calaveras and Amador counties to rebuild the Camanche bridge at the same point as formerly.

An accident occurred at the Penn Chemical Co.'s mine on Friday evening. A young man by the name of Albert Holquist, in attempting to row a boat across the Mokelumne at the point where the company's wire foot bridge formerly stood, finding that the boat was going to capsize, jumped into the water and attempted to swim ashore. He swam only a few strokes when he called for help and immediately sank and was seen no more.
Parties have been patrolling the river ever since, but up to the present writing the body has not been found.
Albert Holquist has been employed at the smelter for nearly five years and was well liked by all with whom he came in contact. He was a native of Sweden, where his father and mother still live. By his steady and industrious habits he had accumulated about $2000 in the five years he had worked for the company. He has a brother living in the northern part of this state. His age was 28 years.
Word has just been received that the unfortunate young man's hat has been found near the place where the boat capsized.—Stockton Record.

Changes in Land Office Work.
In accordance with orders just issued by the president and the secretary of the Interior, the commissioner of the general land office has taken up the work of reorganizing the land and office forms under his control.

The chiefs of divisions have been invested with more authority and greater supervisory powers than heretofore. The special agents will be detached to the several chiefs from time to time and placed directly under the supervision of the chiefs of the several divisions in the field, each chief being held responsible for the efficient performance of all work in his division.

The field divisions and assignments of chiefs follow:
Field Division No. 1.—All land districts in Oregon, Edward W. Dixon, Portland, Oregon.
No. 2.—All land districts in Califor-

The world still has a considerable supply of coal. Germany is credited with 280,000,000,000 tons, sufficient to last 2,000 years at the present rate of consumption; Great Britain and Ireland claim 193,000,000,000 tons, with an annual consumption about double that of Germany; Belgium has 28,000,000,000 tons; France, 19,000,000,000; Austria, 17,000,000,000; and Russia 40,000,000. North America is believed to have 681,000,000,000 tons, more than the total of the other countries named. It is the tremendous increase in the use of coal that justifies alarm, for, while the supply of the United States would last 4,000 years at the rate of consumption in 1905, it will be exhausted within a century if the rate of increase of the last 30 years continues. No estimates of the coal of other parts of the world can be made, but Asia is known to have an enormous store.

Probably no substance is adapted to a greater variety of uses than rubber, but its applications are restricted by the limited supply and high cost. Among the purposes for which it has great advantages but is not likely to be extensively employed is that of paving roadways. A rubber pavement laid at a London railway station in 1881 was in 1902, worn down to five-eighths of an inch in the thinnest place. Notwithstanding the scarcity of the material, the cost was less than three times as great as that of wood, and its life has been more than twenty years instead of the four years which the wood or asphalt would have endured.

The unique floating ice barrier pushed out from the mysterious Antarctic land was found by Capt. Scott's expedition to extend 500 miles westward from the volcanoes Erebus and Terror, and more than 400 miles toward the Pole, reaching beyond 82 degrees 17 minutes south lat. The river rises 10 to 280 feet above the water.

Even the best eggs may cause digestive disturbance through the idiosyncrasy of certain individuals, but Le Coq, a French physiologist reports that some eggs develop a real poison, which he names oxtroxine. Its presence is usually marked by a peculiar putrid odor, which in the white may be so slight as to escape notice. The toxin may be present in fresh eggs, but much more often occurs in those that are stale, and mixing long-broken eggs with cream—as is done so frequently by bakers—is especially liable to produce the septic alteration. Feeding hens with putrid or diseased meat is a fruitful source of the infection of the white of eggs. This investigator would condemn all desiccated and preserved eggs, and as there is no way of distinguishing safe fresh eggs, he would insist that all eggs to be eaten should be well boiled or sterilized by other thorough cooking, and particularly that raw eggs should not be used with cream in pastry.

The common sunflower, a native of Peru and Mexico, is gaining favor in parts of Europe as a febrifuge. In Russia, where the plant is extensively cultivated for its edible seeds and its oil, fever patients sleep upon beds of sunflower leaves and a Russian physician, experimenting upon 100 children between one month and twelve years of age, has found that alcoholic extracts of the leaves and flowers cure fever as speedily as quinine. In Spain and France also the sunflower has proven as satisfactory as quinine in fevers.

Alzen, the new alloy of two parts of aluminum and one of zinc, makes very perfect and durable casts of even the most delicate ornaments, and proves to be adapted to many purposes. It takes a beautiful polish. Compared with cast iron, the alloy is equally strong, much more elastic, and is greatly superior in its resistance to rust. The last named quality especially entitles this material to consideration.

Ordinary unrefined helium, obtained by calcining cleveite, has been made quite pure by two French chemists by filtering through quartz heated to 1100 C. Helium diffuses readily through the hot quartz, which is impermeable to all other gases except hydrogen and possibly carbon monoxide, and these are converted into water vapor and carbonic acid by adding a little oxygen before the filtering. The impure helium is placed in a small quartz bulb ending in a capillary tube, this bulb being enclosed in a vacuum tube of platinum. The apparatus is heated in an electric furnace, and proves easy to operate and perfect in its purification, though the diffusion through the quartz is rather slow.

A series of vibrations corresponding to musical tones has been reproduced as an alternating electric current in novel experiments reported by Maurice Dupont to the Paris Academy. Passing these currents through the body may give the effects of hearing the tones themselves, and this has suggested a possible new method for making the deaf to hear. It is further conceived that the currents may be so attuned to nerve cells as to give either excitation or the reverse—benumbing being a new kind of anesthesia. Twenty years ago D'Arsenal reproduced melody and words from a muscle excited by an alternating current coming through a microphone acted on by the human voice.

A wax from the raffia palm of Madagascar is expected to prove substitute for beeswax. The leaves of the palm are beaten to small fragments on a mat, and then boiled, the wax so secured being collected and kneaded into small cakes. The new material is being tested for bottling purposes, photograph cylinders, etc. The barometer rock of Iceland—composed of clay, niter and rock salt—turns from gray to black before rain, a white efflorescence of salt appearing in dry weather.

SALESMEN WANTED.—Three salesmen for our new county, township and railroad surveys of California. These surveys are a splendid compilation of facts, figures and drawings and of wonderful value. Counties and towns are fully indexed and populations of each are given; railroads plainly shown and distances between all stations also shown; congressional districts outlined, numbered to mention. A splendid opportunity for energetic men. Rand, McNally & Co., Chicago, Ills.

From Our Exchanges

H. I. Hoxie, formerly in charge of the Keystone mine at Amador, and also at one time connected with the West Tonopah, has been appointed superintendent of the MacNamara. Mr. Hoxie is a practical mining man of much experience.—Tonopah Sun.
The supervisors had quite a lively session this week, and it took three days to complete all the business of the board. Tuesday all the members accompanied by the district attorney went to Camanche, where they met the members of the Amador board, to discuss the joint bridge that must be erected to take the place of the one carried away by the flood.—Prospect.
In the matter of the joint bridge across the Mokelumne river at Camanche, it was decided at the conference with the Amador supervisors to accept the plans of C. W. Swain and to advertise for bids.—Prospect.

Geo. Avery returned from a trip into Amador county last week. He has moved his family back to their home at Avery.—Angels Record.
The many girl friends of Miss Lottie Le Moine were entertained at "Hearts" Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Le Moine's sister, Mrs. E. W. Beckman. At the conclusion of the game Miss Le Moine announced her engagement to Edwin E. Steacy, a Lodi boy. Of late Mr. Steacy has been traveling for the W. P. Fuller Company of Stockton. Dainty refreshments followed the card playing. Miss Le Moine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Le Moine of this city. She is a handsome girl of pleasing personality and well liked by all who know her. Her father recently owned the Lodi hotel, but is now engaged in experimenting with vineyards. Miss Le Moine is a graduate of the Lodi high school and is popular among the vocal set. Mr. Steacy has been reared in Lodi, having received his education both in Salem and the high school. He is the son of W. E. Steacy, a carriage maker of this city, and is well-known throughout Lodi and Stockton, where he has ever so many friends who can but extend congratulations. Society in Lodi will welcome the marriage, which is to occur on April 10th at the bride's home on South School street.—Stockton Record.

Changes in Land Office Work.
In accordance with orders just issued by the president and the secretary of the Interior, the commissioner of the general land office has taken up the work of reorganizing the land office.
The chiefs of divisions have been invested with more authority and greater supervisory powers than heretofore. The special agents will be detailed to the several chiefs from time to time and placed directly under the supervision of the chiefs of the several divisions in the field, each chief being held responsible for the efficient performance of all work in his division.
The field divisions and assignments of chiefs follow: Field Division No. 1.—All land districts in Oregon, Edward W. Dixon, Portland, Oregon.
No. 2.—All land districts in California and Nevada, Louis R. Glavis, Oakland, Cal.
No. 3.—Land districts in Washington and Idaho, F. N. Goodwin, Spokane, Wash.
No. 4.—All land districts in Montana, Louis L. Sharp, Helena, Mont.
No. 5.—All land districts in Colorado and Utah, M. D. McEnery, Denver, Colo.
No. 6.—All districts in Arizona and New Mexico, F. C. Dezendorf, Santa Fe, N. M.
The other districts cover the states farther east.

Rest is the great restorer. We tire our muscles by exercise and then rest to restore them; yet a great many of us do not stop to think how little rest we give to our stomachs. As a usual thing no part of our bodies is so generally overworked as our digestive organs. A tired and overworked stomach will give signs of distress to which we pay no heed until at last dyspepsia takes hold. Indigestion is just a warning, and if we heed the warning we can easily avoid further consequences. Kodol is a most thorough stomach relief. It digests what you eat and gives the stomach the needed rest and greatly assists in restoring it to its normal activity and usefulness. Kodol is sold on a guarantee relief plan. It is sold here by F. W. Kubser.

Industrial Alcohol.
Do you fully comprehend what industrial alcohol means?
Do you know it will increase the bank account of every farmer and fruit grower in the land?
Do you know industrial alcohol will cheapen manufacture in all lines?
Do you know it will soon become one of our most profitable industries?
Do you know that every farmer and fruit grower should know how to work up his waste products into alcohol?
Do you know the simplest and cheapest process to use is the Palmer Process?
Do you know that this process is so simple that no skilled help is required?
If you cannot answer the above questions, order the A B C of alcohol making from the American Alcohol and Sugar Company, 50 Bryson Block, Los Angeles, Cal. All known processes compared and explained in every-day English. Ready for mailing about April 15, 1907. Cloth, $1.50 flexible leather, $2.50. Order now.

Experience.
I've shot the chutes and bumped the bumps,
And had the measles and the mumps,
Experience;
And also signed some notes for chumps,
Experience.
I've hit the pike and looped the loop
And had bronchitis and the croup,
Experience;
And also floundered in the soup,
Experience.
To friends I've loaned my hard-earned cash,
For breakfast I have eaten hash,
Experience;
I've had the hives, the grip, the rash,
Experience.
In cable cars I've suffered jars
And dodged a million autocars,
Experience;
And through a brick have witnessed stars,
Experience.
I've had a lot of dopy dreams,
Been up against great gold brick schemes,
Experience;
I've heard a cracked soprano scream,
Experience.
I've heard a lot of vaudeville,
And smoked cigars that made me ill,
Experience;
I've written verse—am at it still,
Experience.

AUKUM.
Wm. Carter, who lives one mile south of this place, met with a serious accident through a runaway team on Tuesday last. He hitched up a span of young horses he had driven many times before, to go after a load of wood. The horses had been standing in the stable for several days without being exercised or used. When he got on the wagon, the horses plunged forward with vicious speed and running into a depression in the road. The wagon bounded upward and threw Mr. Carter violently to the ground. The team ran about 40 yards and brought up before an enclosed gate in front of them, doing no damage to the team or wagon whatever. Mr. Carter after being thrown arose and walked into his house, a hundred yards away. Dr. Norman of Plymouth, was sent for, and when he came found that both of Mr. Carter's arms were broken just above the wrist. He is now getting along as well as could be expected. He and his wife are to be taken to Plymouth by their son Robert, tomorrow, where they will stay with relatives of that name.

SEALED PROPOSALS.
Pursuant to law and to the Resolution of the Board of Trustees of the City of Jackson, adopted April 4, 1907, the undersigned will receive bids at his office in the Marella Building, Court street, Jackson, California, until 7:30 o'clock p. m., MAY 9, 1907, for doing the following work, to wit: Driving the City Sprinkling Wagon during the coming season, contractor to furnish four horse team and driver, work to be prosecuted seven days a week and ten hours a day. Successful bidder will be required to give security for the faithful performance of the work. Right reserved to reject any or all bids.
L. J. GLAVINOVICH,
City Clerk.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure
Digests what you eat.

LANCHA PLANA.
The mail from Lancha Plana to Wallace is carried to and from Lancha Plana on foot, about a mile to the old Westmoreland bridge, where it is met by a team and wagon. The driver is Jesse Lyons of Wallace. The river will not be fordable before July 1st.
A great amount of damage has been done along the Mokelumne river in this district during the recent high water. Fences have been swept away, orchards, vineyards and gardens injured, and the roads in many places have been rendered almost impassable. The amount of drift wood and pine and cedar logs collected at different points is enormous. Large quantities of valuable timber have been secured by different parties along the river.
A petition signed by nearly every resident has been prepared and will be presented to the board of supervisors of Calaveras and Amador counties to rebuild the Camanche bridge at the same point as formerly.
A sad accident occurred at the Penn Chemical Co.'s mine on Friday evening. A young man by the name of Albert Holquist, in attempting to row a boat across the Mokelumne at the point where the company's wire foot bridge formerly stood, finding that the boat was going to capsize, jumped into the water and attempted to swim ashore. He swam only a few strokes when he called for help and immediately sank and was seen no more. Parties have been patrolling the river ever since, but up to the present writing the body has not been found. Albert Holquist has been employed at the smelter for nearly five years and was well liked by all with whom he came in contact. He was a native of Sweden, where his father and mother still live. By his steady and industrious habits he had accumulated about $2000 in the five years he had worked for the company. He has a brother living in the northern part of this state. His age was 28 years. Word has just been received that the unfortunate young man's hat has been found near the place where the boat capsized.—Stockton Record.

The Town Library Matter.

As the proposed town library seems to be little understood by the citizens generally, it is not out of place to give some of the facts. It is perhaps generally known that the movement has for its object the securing of a gift of $10,000 from Andrew Carnegie for the erection of a library building. This is the motive power of the agitation, not any particular demand in the conditions of Jackson at this time that calls for such a movement. Carnegie has a standing offer of the above sum in aid of the establishment of a library in small incorporated towns. Smaller towns than Jackson, it is claimed, have secured this sum, and why should not we get in line. But this offer is apt to lead to very erroneous conclusions. People get the impression that insinuating as the free gift business is the basis upon which the library rests, it will continue to be a gift all through—that it will involve no expense to the taxpayers. This is entirely a mistake. Carnegie is a shrewd business man, as well as a generous multi-millionaire. He does not scatter this money in libraries without exacting some conditions from the people receiving the benefit. Auburn in Placer county, has succeeded in getting a library gift of $10,000 lately. The gift, however, requires that a sum of not less than $1000 annually be raised by the town folks in support of the library. The building lot must also be first secured. These conditions are essential to securing the gift. A librarian would have to be employed to look after the business, and other running expenses incurred. It may be safely said that the annual cost would be considerably in excess of $1000, as times now are. Estimating the taxable property within the city limits at $700,000, the special tax to raise the necessary sum to keep the library going in anything like shape would run close up to 20 cents on the $100. If Jackson were comprised mainly of a literary and reading community, this expense would be gladly borne. It is well known that our population is largely of the non-reading class, to whom a town library would be no attraction whatever.

This matter should be well digested before any decisive action is taken. The town is too young in self-government to branch out into luxuries of this nature. The people are none too well satisfied with the experience of incorporation so far gained. The benefits have not materialized according to promises. The city is not on the crest of prosperity at present. The time limit before a move to disincorporate has not yet expired, and we think this library movement might well be deferred beyond the two year mark, within which a vote to disincorporate cannot be taken.

A Queer Send Off.

The Amador Dispatch in its last issue publishes an article from the Journal of Education, published in Boston, Mass., on school matters in Amador county. The article is complimentary of the course pursued and initiated by Geo. A. Gordon, as school superintendent during his term of office, or holding the county institute outside of the county. Had the writer been satisfied with a simple commendation of this policy, no objection would be made to the article. But he was not satisfied, and steps outside to say very uncompromising and untruthful things of the teachers, and the conditions of educational affairs in Amador county. We quote from the article as follows:

"Mr Gordon is an Amador county man. When he became superintendent forty per cent of the teachers had never been outside of the county. I think of the children in forty per cent of the schools being taught by young people who had never been outside of the county. Some of these teachers upon the threshold of the twentieth century had never seen a train of cars or even dreamed of a street car."

"This was true of a large number of other counties when George A. Gordon, as superintendent, undertook the solution of the problem. He said we do not want teachers from outside. They will not stay if they come. They will not adapt themselves to our necessities. It is much better to use our own young people. But they must see something of the great world beyond."

"He conceived the idea—he was the first man in the world so far as is known to entertain the idea of holding a county institute far outside of the county. He took his first outside institute 137 miles away at the famous State University at Berkeley."

For the Children

To succeed these days you must have plenty of grit, courage, strength. How is it with the children? Are they thin, pale, delicate? Do not forget Ayer's Sarsaparilla. You know it makes the blood pure and rich, and builds up the general health in every way.

The children cannot possibly have good health unless the bowels are in proper condition. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a blood purifier, and it is the only medicine that cures the skin diseases of the face, neck, and chest. It is the only medicine that cures the skin diseases of the face, neck, and chest. It is the only medicine that cures the skin diseases of the face, neck, and chest.

profession in Amador, whether anti-dating or post-dating the term of superintendent Gordon. The disposition to travel, and get in touch with the outside world, has never been lacking here, and we do not believe the placing of the teachers institute on a railroad train bound for an outside point had anything whatever to do with stimulating the tendency to travel, or enlarging the views of the teachers, or creating in their minds a disposition to read more, or imparting a capacity to select a better class of books. All this exists only in the imagination of this educational scribbler.

He is clear off his base, if he does hail for the literary center of the Union. We are not of the galoot stripe in Amador county, and our teachers will compare favorably with regard to knowledge of the outside acquired by travel with any other section of California.

A Serious Omission.

On looking over the list of articles included in the advertisement for proposals for bids for the supply of county offices, it will be noticed that the policy which has prevailed in this county for many years under democratic control has been continued. We refer to the omission of record books used by the various officers. This should be properly included in the printing list or bids for stationery. It is included in neither. For long years Amador county has been pursuing its way with these supplies outside of any contract price. The different county officers have been left free to purchase such articles without any agreement or understanding with the county managers whatever. This is contrary to the mandatory provision of law. The law is very explicit on this matter, requiring all stationery to be contracted for with the lowest bidder, and all printing rates to be established. Looking down the list of articles included in the stationery list no mention is made of record books, which constitute by far the heaviest item of expense in the stationery or printing line. A lot of things are mentioned which are never called for; a particular brand is called for in others, which would not pass the test of the courts. It is simply giving, as far as this county is concerned, a monopoly of such articles to a favorite manufacturer. It is discrimination in its worst form, and should be dropped. The stationery list calls for a quality of goods in some instances which do not figure in the catalogue of wholesale houses, and of course never have been, and never will be furnished.

The persistent omission of such an important item as record books, in the face of repeated mention thereof, is unfavorably discussed in circles where the fact is known. Naturally an interpretation of this violation of the plain provisions of the law will be resorted to, and the conclusion reached cannot in the nature of things be favorable to those responsible for this state of affairs. Every claim allowed for record books under this no contract condition is illegal. A protest is liable to be filed against the payment of such bills at any time. Indeed, it is an open question whether a suit to recover all the moneys paid out under this system against those responsible therefor, and their bondsmen would not be sustained by the courts. And yet we go on year after year at this negligent and unsatisfactory pace. It is discouraging to say the least, and shakes the faith of the average citizen in the methods of the local government.

"That the policy of creating forest reserves is a wise one will be disputed by none. At the same time there is at least as far as California is concerned, a feeling that the reservation business is capable of being overdone. It is roughly estimated that the reserves already created in this state aggregate about one-fifth of the total area of California. Naturally, these reserves are confined to the timber lands of the Sierras and the coast range—the only places where commercial timber exists in any quantity. Presumably, these reserves will in the future supply lumber for market under government control. Unquestionably there has been great waste in the timber regions heretofore, and if the government succeeds in preventing this waste, without materially handicapping the lumbering interests, it certainly will accomplish a much-needed reform."

Wanted:—To make contract with responsible contractor to haul lumber from saw mill to railroad. Five mile haul, practically all down hill. Make trip and one-half a day. Will have forty thousand feet day or one million a month for five or six months for three seasons. It will take ten or twelve four horse teams. Can use rollers on wagons and roll lumber off at railroad. Don't answer unless you mean business and are prepared to give a bond and carry out such a contract. Answer box 50, Burlingame.

The Amador Record commends the supervisors for rejecting a claim for advertising at their last meeting on the ground that the work was not ordered. We know not the source of this piece of information, but will say that, as usual, our cotemporary is talking away from the facts. The advertising was ordered. We should have left this matter stay without any explanation on our part, were it not for this slanderous statement. We propose next week to show up the patrician of this transaction in its true character, as well as the extreme littleness of the editor whose stock in trade consists of misrepresentation and abuse.

CITY TRUSTEES.

Board of trustees of the city of Jackson met last evening; present W. Lam, chairman; Geo. Kirkwood, Wm. Penry and H. Leam.

Ordinance No. 30 was advanced to its second reading, and placed upon its first passage.

On motion by trustee Leam, seconded by trustee Kirkwood, the ordinance was passed by the following vote:

Ayes.—Kirkwood, Penry, Lam, Leam.

Noes.—None.

The chair stated that he would defer the appointing of the library committee until the next regular meeting. Adjourned until next regular meeting.

For Rent.—House and large lot on Broadway street in Jackson. Barn and chicken houses. Address, E. A. Freeman, 1218-34th Avenue, Fruitvale, Cal.

LANCHA PLANA.

Lancha Plana, April 5.—A. Van Sandt, who has been on the sick list at home for the past week, is home at the ranch again.

The managers and employees of the copper mine have offered a reward of $40 for the recovery of the body of Albert Holquist, who was drowned in the Mokelumne river near the mine last week. As Saturday will be the ninth day, it is thought that the body will soon come to the surface.

The Lancha Plana school has been closed this week on account of the illness of the teacher, Mrs. K. W. Barnett.

Ed Morrow of Camanche forded the Mokelumne river yesterday on his saddle horse. However, it will be some weeks before vehicles can cross.

The flood has changed the ford and it is thought it will be better.

G. Holquist, a brother of the young man drowned last week, arrived on Tuesday from Humboldt and is anxiously searching the river for the remains.

W. Crall of Lancha Plana is erecting a dwelling house for John Cavanero on his ranch near Camanche.

Alice's Hat.

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, about whom you read in the Dispatch, she the helmet again. She has a new hat. Of course most women have at this season of the year. But this particular hat is surrounded by a stuffed dove, and as Alice belongs to the Audubon society, which disapproves that sort of decoration, the hat has created a great sensation among Washington society women.

Since congress has adjourned Washington society must be experiencing a famine of sensations, when it can become excited over a new hat at Easter time. But there is no surprise that Alice's hat is the one to cause the furor: Being a congressman's wife is so quiet after being a president's daughter, that Alice would probably have used a whole flock of birds it necessary to start something.

A Riley street man is down on petition circulators. One year ago he signed a petition. The act made him enemies. Then he signed a remonstrance against the provisions of the petition. More enemies. A second petition was handed him, and to square himself with both factions, he ignored it. Both factions then abused him. A second remonstrance was offered for his signature. He refused to sign. A friend to the remonstrance called him a bad name. A third petition was presented, and becoming reckless he signed it without reading its contents. Hereafter the man with a petition is warned to take an ambulance with him when he asks for the signature of the Riley street man.—Atchison Globe.

For Sale.—A five roomed dwelling house on Broadway, Jackson; price reasonable. Apply to Theo. Crocker, Olympus Saloon.

M. L. Smith, Notary Public, and Stenographer; office Marcella Bldg., Court street; telephone No. 43.

The weather has been warm and spring-like for over a week, vegetation has made fair headway, but the crops, so farmers say, are not looking very good. Prospects favor a rather short crop of hay and grain.

William Jan Jr., was a passenger for San Francisco Thursday morning.
He expects to go to work for Maretti, formerly of the firm of Tam & Maretti of this city, who is in the grocery business in San Francisco.

Miss Rocco, an aged lady, sister of the late Frank Rocco, was stricken with apoplexy Wednesday. She had two attacks, and her condition is quite serious.

There will be services at the Methodist church next Sabbath morning and evening, Rev. C. E. Winning, pastor.
At the morning service the sacrament of the Lord's supper will be observed.
In the evening Rev. Winning will speak on "the home a divine institution, or marriage not a failure." Sunday school at 2 p. m. All are welcome to each and all of these services.

The dwelling house of William Doyle in Hunt's gulch narrowly escaped destruction by fire last Saturday. It seems Mrs Doyle had deposited some hot ashes near the house, and it is believed that these started a fire in the kitchen roof. The fire was detected by some line men of the electric company, who fortunately happened to be near by. By their prompt aid the flames were subdued before any great damage had been done.

Neil McQuarrie, who came up last Thursday, to pack all his law books and furniture left in his former office in the Spagnoli building, left again for the city on Sunday morning. He is employed as a stenographer and clerk for the Enterprise Real Estate Company in San Francisco, and has been so employed for nearly a year.

Miss Follen has returned with a complete line of trimmed and ready-to-wear hats. Will handle them at Jackson Shoe Store.

Jos. Cadamortori left Monday morning for one of the mining camps of Nevada.

A Tonopah paper was received by J.
H. Langhorst this week containing an announcement of the death of H. S.
Howland, which occurred in Beatty, Nev., on March 20. He will be remembered around Jackson, as he was superintendent of the Hartenburgh mine, when that property was being operated about 12 or 15 years ago. He was 70 years of age and a native of New York. He was a cousin of Mrs. Hetty Green, one of the richest women in this country.

The supervisors of Calaveras county are calling for bids for the construction of a steel bridge over the Mokelume river near Camanche, on the site of the one recently carried away by the flood. The bridge is to be 150 foot span, and must be completed on or before November 1st next. Bids will be received by the clerk of the board of supervisors of Calaveras county at San Andreas, in open session, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 1 p. m. of Tuesday, May 7, 1907.

Thos Carley and wife left early last week for Detroit, Michigan, with the intention of making their home there.
Mrs Carley's relatives are in that city, and after being in California for about two years, she wanted to return to the home of her girlhood.

by her father, D. B. Spagnoli, returned to San Francisco Tuesday to resume her studies.

The iron tank for the city sprinkling wagon has arrived, and is at Garbarini's machine shop to be affixed to the cart. Its capacity is about the same as the wood tank, which it supplants, namely 800 gallons. It is considerably lighter in weight. It will be put in place, ready for business in a few days.

Crushed Between Wagons.
A young man named Louis Schroeder, a son of Henry Schroeder of Oleta, was badly crushed between two oil wagons at Martell depot early Sunday morning. He was engaged about the freight department, and in coupling two oil wagons his left leg became jammed between them, catching about the thigh. It was a couple of minutes or more before he could be released. His sufferings were intense. He was brought to town for treatment as soon as possible, and his injuries attended to by Dr. Eudicott. No bones were broken, but the tissues were bruised severely, and it will be some time before he is able to resume work.

The Oil Supply.
W. F. Detert went to San Francisco Saturday, among other matters to look into the fuel supply for the Zeila mine. The past week the oil teams have been going through town to the mine at a lively rate, and the stimulus is attributed largely to the visit of the superintendent to headquarters. The Kennedy mine has started work on a pipe line from the oil tanks to the railroad depot. This will enable oil to be pumped from the station to the oil tanks at the mine.

Prize Won by Native of Jackson.
President Wheeler, of the state university, announces that he has received from the department of state at Washington the Lalande prize in astronomy, which takes the form of a gold medal, and has been awarded to Dr. R. G. Aitken, assistant astro-nomer at the Lick observatory. The medal was transmitted to Washington through the American ambassador at Paris.

Prof. Aitken is the oldest son of the late Robert Aitken a pioneer resident of Jackson.

On Strike.
It was reported here early in the week that all the miners employed at the Camp Seco copper mine had quit work on a strike. They demanded shorter hours and more pay, which the superintendent was unable to grant without authority from the officials of the company. The men refused to wait, and walked out.
Over 100 men are involved. It was not the outcome of any action by a labor organization. There is no miners' union, we are informed at Camp Seco. The men agreed among themselves to go out unless the increased pay and shorter hours were conceded.

Fatal Accident.

Harry McLaurein, a young man 26 years of age, was killed in the Oneida mine Sunday morning by falling 280 feet in the winze. He was skiptender at the 2400 station. In ascending the shaft, he in some unexplained manner lost his balance, fell from the skip, and was instantly killed. Coroner Potter held an inquest the same afternoon, the jury finding that he came to his death by accidentally falling 280 feet, and exonerating the company from all blame in the matter.
He was a single man, and had been employed in the Oneida for about two years. His parents live in Alameda.

His father came up from Alameda Monday evening, and it was decided to have the funeral take place here.
The burial was Tuesday afternoon, under the auspices of the Foresters of America, deceased being a member of County Foreboston No. 95 of Butte county. Deceased was well liked by all who knew him, and his untimely end is deeply regretted by all.

The Drowning of Lorenzo J. Oneto.
Coroner H. E. Potter held an inquest at Middle Fork district on Friday afternoon on the body of Lorenzo J. Oneto, who lost his life on the evening of the 4th instant, a few steps from his home, by falling headfore-most into a shallow stream. The testimony taken at the investigation throw very little light on the matter.
The following comprised the jury:
Geo. Poggi, John Cadamortori, Frank Sanguinetti, M. H. Fortner, M. Newman, K. H. Fortner, L. W. Holbrook, H. E. Stowers and Fred LeMoin.

The only witness examined was William Schmidt, who found the body as he was returning home from his work of cutting wood. It was about 20 minutes after 5 o'clock in the evening when he saw him lying in the water, he dropped his dinner pail and went to inform his brothers. The victim was 31 years of age, and the jury brought in a verdict of accidental drowning. The young man had been complaining all that day, and had refused food and liquid several times. He did not visit the running stream which proved his death, for the purpose of washing vegetables therein, as was his custom.
The supposition is that he went there to wash his hands, and pitched forward while so engaged under an attack of heart trouble, of which he was subject. The funeral took place Saturday afternoon.

Arbor Day Exercises.
Exercises in celebration of Arbor day were held under the auspices of Ursula Parlor No. 1 N. S. G. W., yesterday afternoon on the public school ground. All classes of the school were dismissed at 2 o'clock, the hour set for the exercises, so as to give an opportunity to the children to attend. Outside of the school children about one hundred persons gathered to listen to the program.
Mrs. Ella Caminetti presided, and the following exercises were had:

Singing by the glee club.
Invocation by Rev. C. E. Winning.
Singing by a class of six school girls.

Address, by R. C. Hole, on the importance of tree culture, and the implanting in the minds of the rising generation a reverence for the trees.

Singing by the glee club.
Address by Jas. Jay Wright.
Singing by a school class composed of five boys and five girls.

Address by school superintendent W. H. Greenhalgh.

Vocal solo, by Fred Delama, an Italian boy of about fourteen years, lately from his native land. He sang in Italian very nicely, and without the least prompting by his instrutress, Miss Monger.

Judge R. C. Rust, as representative of the Native Sons, was called upon, and made an impromptu speech.

Mrs. Caminetti then made a few closing remarks, stating that the credit for the agitation for tree planting belonged to the Native Daughters.
They started the movement several years ago, and it has been growing in popularity ever since. The aim was to replenish the tree growth, to offset the destruction of timber at the demands of commerce. Some two weeks ago the actual tree planting took place, a line of trees being planted on Church street from the school grounds to the junction with the Jackson Gate road.

The exercises closed with the benediction by Rev. C. E. Winning.

Receipt books, location blanks, deeds mortgages, promissory notes, etc., for sale; also mining signals on cloth, graduation diplomas, at the Ledger office.

Married in Church.

On Sunday last in St. Patrick's church, Luka Ljubenko and Miss Annie Bangar were united in the bonds of matrimony, by the Rev.
Father Kearny. The bride was attended by Mrs. A. Perovich, and the groom by John Leventa. The bride was beautifully attired in white alpena, with a wreath and veil, and carried white carnations. A banquet was provided after the ceremony at the home of the bride's brother, Nick Bangar. The presents on this happy occasion were many—among which may be mentioned:

Diamond ring, John Leventa; ring Pete Bangar; ring, Chris Ljubenko; couch, Mrs. A. Perovich; rocker, Gluocchio Bros.; rocker, Martin Bunda; clock, Paul Kassica; set silver knives, forks and spoons, Mitchell and Nick Bendish; chamber set, Mrs.
Bangar; rug, cups and saucers, Nick Bangar; handpainted lemonade set, Mr. and Mrs. Troyan; rug Mrs. Simcich; rug, Mr. McUtchen; hand-painted toilet set, Mitchell Chupich; framed picture, Pete Bunda; water set, Mrs. Burch; wine set, Mrs. Bann; water set, Mr. Supilo; berry set, Mrs.
J. Glavulich; glass set, Mrs. Guras; fancy tea pot, M. Maslach; set silver teaspoons, Martin Chupich; hand-drawn shams, Mrs. John Glavulich, toilet box, Annie and Lucy Perovich; spread, Mrs. Milovich; photograph album, Mrs. Sharich.

They will make their home on Broadway, having rented one of the cottages belonging to Frank Simcich.

Le Doux Appeal Now Perfected.
The appeal in the case of the people against Mrs. Emma Le Doux is perfected and, by the close of the week the transcript will be filed with the clerk of the supreme court. Last October Mrs. Le Doux was to have been hanged for the murder of Albert N. McVicar of Jamestown, her ex-husband. Charles H. Fairall, who conducted the defense of the trunk murderess, prayed a stay of execution until such time as he should prepare a bill of exceptions and have transcript printed preparatory to appeal.

Six months have been consumed in making the transcript. Yesterday the bill of exceptions settled by Judge Nutter on February 16th last, was filed with county clerk Graham. The bill is of huge proportion containing 969 pages of typewritten matter. The transcript on appeal is even larger and contains, to be exact, 1161 pages.
Accompanying the bill of exceptions filed yesterday was a stipulation signed by attorney Fairall, now engaged in San Francisco, and district attorney G. F. McNoble, agreeing that the transcript is true and correct in all particulars and need not be read over and compared by the county clerk.

This saves much time. The appeal is practically perfected and now the case is at liberty to come up at any time before the highest court in the state. The transcript contains practically all of the expert testimony rendered during the trial. Much space is also taken up by the controversy which arose at the end of the trial, wherein juror August Ritter was cited to appear and answer affidavits of two men who claimed he expressed himself as being biased and unfit to qualify as a juror.—Stockton Independent.

An Old Timer Gone.
A well-known character around Jackson, Carlo Brizzolara, died in the county hospital on Saturday morning last. He was familiarly known as the "lottery ticket man"; as he made a living by the sale of tickets in the Mexican lottery. He had been a sufferer from chronic stomach troubles for years, which unfitted him for manual labor. He gradually became worse, although moving around almost up to the last.
Saturday morning, it was evident that he was no longer able to care for himself, and so about 10 o'clock he was removed to the county hospital.
He died within a couple of hours after his reception therein. He was a native of Italy, about 64 years of age.
He had been a resident of this section from the early sixties. A subscription list was started, and enough funds collected to pay the expenses of a decent burial, which took place Monday afternoon, in the Catholic cemetery.

Caved on in Kennedy.
Lloyd Russell, a young man employed at the Kennedy, had a narrow escape Tuesday evening. He was employed in the stope at the 2500 level.
A small cave occurred, knocking him through the timbers. He was considerably bruised about the breast and neck, and a gash cut in his left arm. Fortunately no bones were broken. He was able to be on the street yesterday, with his arm and head bandaged. It will take two or three weeks before he will be able to return to work. Two other miners were working near by, but he was the only one hurt.

Deputy City Marshal.
Fred E. Jackson, city marshal left Tuesday morning for Nevada. He appointed Geo. M. Huberty deputy marshal in his absence, and the city trustees held a special meeting Monday evening to approve of the appointment. Jackson does not know whether he will return or not. He is going to Humboldt county, on a prospecting tour. He has friends in that section, and he himself is thoroughly posted on that county, having lived there some time.

LURED FROM HOME.

Country Girl Forced to Marry.

Sacramento Bee, April 8.
"My God, is this what I find you into? I want you to come home, oh, I want you to come home," were the words of a heart-broken mother as she threw herself into the arms of her only daughter, for whom she had been searching for days, and with heart-rending sobs, poured out the flood of her pent-up grief on her daughter's shoulder.

The scene of this pathetic meeting was in a dark hallway in a rooming house at Fourth and J streets, Saturday morning, and was the result of a weary search of many days on the part of Mrs. J. H. White, wife of a ranchman residing near Plymouth, for her minor daughter, Catherine, who she declared had been inveigled to leave school and run away from home with a heartless wretch by the name of William A. Good, who, she says, committed perjury to secure a marriage license and who married the girl against her consent, ostensibly to secure possession of some cattle that the girl owns.

His Story of Substantiated.
Good went to Plymouth about three months ago, claiming to hail from San Francisco and stating that he had lost all of his property in the disaster of last spring. Subsequent inquiry revealed that he beat his way to the coast this winter from Elkhart, Indiana. He secured employment in a store at Plymouth and while engaged in this capacity met Catherine Mc-Donald, an innocent-minded school-girl about 17 years of age.

Learning that her father had left her some property at the time of his death, Good set about winning the girl's confidence. He gave up his position in the store, and by working for very low wages, obtained a job on the ranch belonging to the girl's stepfather, J. H. White. After he had become ingratiated with the girl, he came to Sacramento and worked for a few days in a restaurant near the water front.

Inveigles Girl Away.
About the 19th of March, he again appeared at the White home and stated that his father and sister were coming from the East for an extended visit and requested Mrs. White to allow Catherine to come to this city to entertain his sister while she was here. To this Mrs. White gave her reluctant consent, with the understanding that the girl should make her home with her aunt, Mrs. E. P.
Coyle, who resides at Twenty-third and C streets.

From the time that the girl left home until her distracted mother found her Saturday morning, she has been under some mysterious and irresistible influence that she can no more describe than she could resist.
Between heartbroken sobs, she stated to a Bee reporter this morning that Good told her before they reached this city that they were going to be married as soon as possible, that he had made all arrangements for a coolly furnished home and that he would fix it so that everything would be all right.

Could Not Resist.
Upon reaching this city, Good secured a room for the girl on Elgin street and one for himself down near the water-front, taking her grip with him. Early the following morning he appeared at her apartments with a marriage license and commanded her to follow him and do as he told her. Catherine, in her simple, childish way, said: "I knew when we started out to be married that I should refuse, knew some way that what we were doing was not right but I seemed just like some other person. It seemed like I couldn't think straight, I really didn't know what I was doing. And when I was answering the questions, he would tell me what to say, but it seemed like I shouldn't say what he told me to, but I couldn't help it.
The first thing I knew we were out on the street again and he told me we were married."

"Then he commenced to beg me to write an order to Mr. White and tell him to let Good sell my cattle, but I wouldn't do that, so last Saturday he got me a job on G street and told me that he was going out to Plymouth to collect some money that a man owed him out there. When he came back on Wednesday he told me that he didn't get the money and we would both have to go to work, so he got me a job as chambermaid in a lodging house and he got a job as porter there.

Took Child-Wife's Watch.
"Wednesday night he picked my sister, Mrs. Coyle.

When Mrs. White and her daughter left the St. George lodging-house, where the heartless husband secured employment for his child wife, Good followed them some distance down the street breathing out dire threats of "suing them both for damages," and "having the marriage certificate annulled," alternating with pleadings to Mrs. White to "be sensible and tell him what all the trouble was about, anyway, he hadn't done anything."

Mrs. White and her daughter returned to their home to-day and Catherine will resume her school duties at once. In the meantime they have been visiting with Mrs. White's sister, Mrs. Coyle.

When Good reached the White home at Plymouth that Saturday, he told Mrs. White that he and Catherine were married, and that he had come out to dispose of the girl's cattle, but refused to divulge the girl's whereabouts. His story was discredited at first, but when he produced the marriage certificate, and the knowledge of the fact that her daughter had been victimized by an unprin-ciple vagabond dawned upon her, Mrs. White was prostrated with grief and shame.

Good's request was refused and he was ordered from the place. He refused to leave, however, claiming that he had full power and authority to dispose of his wife's property and even went so far as to make several unsuccessful attempts to do so. Frustrated in his malicious plans he satisfied himself with picking up a few articles of wearing apparel about the house that belonged to the girl and took the stage back to this city.

Worked His Father-in-Law.
He was the victim of pecuniary prostration to such an extent that to

Woman's Trials.

The bitter trail in a woman's life is to be childless. Who can find how hard the struggle may have been ere she learns to resign herself to her lonely lot? The absence of this link to bind marital life together, the absence of this one pledge to mutual affection is a common disappointment. Many unfortunate couples become estranged thereby. Even if they do not drift apart, one may read the whole extent of their disappointment in the eyes of a childless couple when they rest on the children of others. To them the largest family does not seem too numerous. In many cases of barrenness or childlessness the obstacle to child-bearing is easily removed by the cure of weakness on the part of the woman. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been the means of restoring health and fruitfulness to many a barren woman, to the great joy of the household. In other, but rare cases, the obstruction to the bearing of children has been found to be of a surgical character, but easily removable by painless operative treatment at the Lyndale Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., over which Dr. Pierce of the "Favorite Prescription" fame presides. In all cases where children are desired and are absent, an effort should be made to find out the real cause, since it is generally so easily removed by proper treatment.

In all the various weaknesses, displacements, prolapses, inflammation and debilitating, catarrhal drains and in cases of nervousness and debility, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the most efficient remedy that can possibly be used. It has its credit hundreds of thousands of cures—more in fact than any other remedy put up for sale through druggists, especially for women's use. The ingredients of which the "Favorite Prescription" is composed have received the most extensive endorsement from the leading medical writers on Materia Medica of all the several schools of practice. All the ingredients are printed in plain English on the wrapper enclosing the bottle, so that any woman making use of this famous medicine may know exactly what she is taking. Dr. Pierce takes no patients into his full confidence, who can afford to do so, as the formula after which the "Favorite Prescription" is made will bear the most careful examination. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best and safest laxative for women.

Ristori's Two Grateful Soldiers.

During Ristori's first engagement at Madrid an elderly woman one night came to her dressing room and tearfully begged her intervention on behalf of her son, a young soldier condemned to death for a serious breach of discipline. At the close of the performance Ristori was presented to Queen Isabella, made the required appeal and obtained the young man's free pardon, perhaps because it gave to the queen the opportunity of a note—that she was certain the actress had never before played in a tragedy with such a happy ending. Some years later Ristori again visited Madrid, and during the first performance a soldier among the audience made a disturbance, was ejected only after severely damaging a number of policemen and was subsequently sentenced to a long term of imprisonment. He proved to be Ristori's former protégé, who, hearing of her return, had come to the theater in order to renew his expression of gratitude. Unfortunately he had drunk her health too enthusiastically beforehand, with the result that he finally owed her not only his life, but free board and lodging for several years into the bargain.—London Truth.

New and Old Bank Bills.

According to the Washington Post, quoting a cashier, bank officials do not prefer fresh new bills to old ones. "Everybody doesn't care for new greenbacks," said a cashier. "It is a common idea that bank tellers do not care to give up crisp paper money. As a matter of fact, nine cashiers out of every ten try to get rid of new money as quickly as possible after receiving it. There is grave danger to the average paying teller in handling untested money. New bank notes stick together. Frequently the ink is not thoroughly dry. During our rush period we handle a great deal of money. It is the easiest thing in the world to make mistakes with new bills when in a hurry to relieve a long line of waiting patrons. When possible we give out the new bills during hours when there is no rush. I'd rather pay out a million old bills than a hundred new ones."

Six Fingered Monkeys.

In several places in Cape Colony and the Orange Free State of South Africa caves have been discovered which yielded hundreds of mummified remains of a queer species of six fingered monkeys. All of the full grown specimens of this remarkable race have the tall situated high up on the back—from three to five inches farther up than on the modern monkey—and other distinguishing marks, such as two sets of canine teeth, beards on the males, etc.

Municipal Newspaper.

Dresden is one of the few cities possessing a municipal newspaper, and this was bequeathed to the city by the late Dr. Gunt. The bequest is a very valuable property and consists of a daily newspaper, which in consequence of its extensive circulation is the principal advertising medium in the neighborhood. The profits are applied to the beautifying and improvement of the city and to charity.

had been killed in its tracks. The girl could have told, but she didn't. Even when the Hacketts charged her lover with the crime and had him arrested and confined in jail for examination she spoke no word except to him. From that hour she was thinking and planning. Her face was still gentle, but her scholars noticed that it had taken on a new look of determination, almost of heroism.

Of a certain Wednesday down in the town at the foot of the mountain James Doane was to be brought before a justice of the peace for preliminary examination. Each and every one of the Doanes was there. Each and every one of the Hacketts was there. Each partisan for five miles around was there. When the justice saw the size of the crowd that had gathered he adjourned the case from his office to the big room in what the townspeople called their city hall. It held 200 people. Two hundred were there to fill it. The sheriff at the door had asked each and every man who passed to leave his weapons behind. Not a man had obeyed. Who could say what would happen before the examination was concluded?

To humiliate a Doane the Hacketts had insisted that the prisoner be brought in handcuffed. Women had asked to be admitted, but they were kept out—all but one. There was no school that day up in Chestnut Cove. The schoolmistress had been subpoenaed as a witness, but no one knew what her testimony would be. She had come down in the backboard of a constable. She had talked with the official long and earnestly on the way. Before going to court he had performed an errand for her. This purchase he had carried into court, with the girl at his heels, and had placed it on a table. When the girl took her place every one felt that something remarkably uncanny was at hand. The Hacketts had demanded a warrant and had a witness. He perjured himself when he said that he saw James Doane do the shooting and run away. The justice was a Hackett sympathizer, and he smiled.

Then the girl was called to the stand to tell her story. She told it in such a straightforward way that even the Hacketts believed, but the justice shook his head. There was an uneasy stir at this, and men muttered to each other. It was then that Tilda Dale rose up and returned to her place beside the table to tear the brown paper off the purchase made by the constable. Men looked again and still again, and drew in their breath. It was a keg of powder, with one head out. The girl then took from her pocket a candle and lit it and placed it on the desk two feet away. Not a man in that room moved so much as a foot. No one rose, no one spoke, no one looked elsewhere, but straight at the girl.

"Men, I want to talk to you for a few minutes," she began in gentle tones, though every word was audible back to the door. Then she gave a history of the Doane-Hackett feud as she had gathered the particulars. She named the killed and wounded and the living. She pictured the misery and the heartaches. She spoke in withering scorn of ambushes, of cowardice, of the burning of buildings and the maiming of animals. There had been warrants and summonses many times before. Partiality had been shown by justice, and there had been perjury without stint. She scored the Doanes as well as the Hacketts. She scored the gray haired women on either side, and one interrupted her. The sheriff was there, but he did not advance upon her. Justice, lawyers, sheriff, the Doanes and the Hacketts were looking at that lighted candle and keg of powder.

"The man is innocent," said the girl, pointing to her lover. "At the hour named he was miles away. Besides, I was there and saw. Is he to have justice?" No one answered. The flame of the candle was blowing in the draft of the window toward the keg. She reached out and picked it up and held it quite over the keg and said: "Only sixteen people have been killed in this feud lasting fifty years. That is too few. Here are 200 of us. We are Doanes or we are Hacketts. Why not all die together and end the trouble and bring peace to a neighborhood that has been in turmoil for half a century?"

Men cringed and chilled and chattered as the candle swung back and forth over the headless keg. So it lasted for two minutes, and then the girl blew out the light and stood with folded arms.

"The prisoner is discharged," said the justice at last. The Hacketts tiptoed out, then the Doanes, and the Joan of the mountains was left all alone in the big room. She sat down and laid her head on the table and wept. And by and by an arm stole softly around her, and her tears ceased.

Lavish. "Let us have some dinner on the veranda," said a nervous young gentleman during the first stage of his honeymoon. "Certainly, sir," said the waiter politely. "Table d'hôte or à la carte, sir?"

"Er—well," said the young Benedict, who was anxious to impress his wife with his lavish expenditure, "bring us some of both, please?"

Meticulous Sympathy. On the death of the Duke of Wellington the bells of Trim, near Dangan Rastie, his father's seat in Ireland, rang when a young man Wellington had a muffled peal, when the tenor, a beautifully toned bell, suddenly broke. It was found by a curious coincidence to have been cast in 1769, the year of the duke's birth.

Inconsistent. "These church people are so inconsistent," said Macduff. "They believe that cleanliness should be next to godliness, yet here they are kicking because I want to build a soap factory next door."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

You can't feel blue if you walk with your head up. This mode of carriage impresses the world that you are on good terms with yourself.

Little Early Risers. The famous little pills.

Down in her heart Tilda was just a bit glad of this. While she would not admit it to herself, she was learning to love the young man with the mild blue eyes and gentle face.

The dozen families at Chestnut Cove had already taken sides. The partisanship soon extended to others miles away. In a family feud you are for or against. For a man there can be no neutrality. Next came arming and mutterings and threats. All knew that these were the preface to deeds of violence. It needed an overt act and the killings would begin.

As the excitement intensified young Doane ceased his visits to the schoolmistress. She had not seen him for a week when one gray afternoon as she walked alone up the mountain side to gather the ripening chestnuts she saw him hiding behind a boulder. Even as she stood there looking and wondering he aimed, fired his rifle and quickly disappeared among the laurels. Twenty minutes later she knew that a horse ridden by one of the Hackett partisans
